Schwegman, Lundberg & Woessner, P.A. Ranked as A Top Ten Patent Prosecution Firm

Intellectual Property Law & Business survey recognizes firm

Minneapolis, MN (January 7, 2010) – Schwegman, Lundberg & Woessner, P.A., a Minneapolis-based IP law firm with offices in San Jose, CA, and Austin, TX, has been ranked as a top ten patent prosecution firm by IP Law & Business magazine.

To earn a spot in the rankings, a firm had to be cited for patent prosecution work by at least four Fortune 100 companies in IP Law & Business' 2009 "Who Protects Innovation in America" survey . SLW was cited by six firms.

A leader in patent prosecution and intellectual property law, Schwegman, Lundberg & Woessner has specialized in technology fields since 1993. All SLW attorneys have technical degrees and this has ensured a remarkable breadth of understanding in biotechnology, chemistry, green technology, electro-mechanics, electronics, mechanics, medical technology/medical devices, pharmaceuticals, software, telecommunications, bioinformatics, polymers and biopolymers, optics, and computer hardware and design.

"We're excited to be recognized by such a highly-regarded trade publication," notes founding partner Steven Lundberg. "This confirms our commitment to understanding the intellectual property requirements of those in technology-related fields. The fact that six of our Fortune 100 clients mentioned us in the survey is very gratifying."

An in depth view of the survey results can be found at www.iplb.com.
